France and Mexico.

NEW YORK Oct 5th —A Paris letter of Sept 19th says in consequence of some important news received from Mexico on the 15th of the present month the Emperor of France who had already dispatched General De Castelnau his aid de camp, to Maximilian, sent him an order by telegraph to come back to St. Cloud, where his instructions were to be revised and modified Marshal Randon was present at the interview which I am assured was of the most important character According to a version generally accepted, based, I understand not merely upon the critical condition of affairs in Mexico but also upon the firm attitude recently assumed by the Cabinet at Washington The intention of the French Government is to bring about a speedy settlement of the Mexican question so as to get rid as soon as possible of a principal subject of solicitude and annoyance. To this effect the fleet of transports collected at Brest and Cherbourg for the purpose of embarking and bringing back to France the first installment of troops, is to be largely increased so as to be capable of carrying the whole French contingent and to evacuate Mexico all at once. All that will remain of the French army will be a small garrison in each harbor where the Custom House duties conceded to France by Maximilian are to be collected. Such are I am assured, the measures just adopted in Cabinet Council I must say however, that the Paris Patrie is not quite of that opinion, and asserts, on the contrary that General DeCastelnau's mission has not for its object to put an immediate end to the intervention of France in Mexico

Appointment of Commissioner of Indian Affairs.

The Times' Washington special says, Louis V Bogy of St. Louis, was to-day appointed Commissioner of Indian Affairs in place of Colby to take effect on the 1st of next month. The appointment is made in deference to the request of the citizens of St Louis, who claim that the Commissioner of Indian Affairs should be selected from among gentlemen whose experience with the necessities of Indian tribes fitted them for the position, while they urged that most of the business with the Indian territories is transacted in, or in some way passes through St Louis It is stated among other things also that contracts for transportation have been made by the Indian Bureau, with citizens of New York to the exclusion of Western men who perform the work The contractors afterwards sublet contracts at greatly reduced prices to Missouri men, thus pocketing a large amount of money without risk or labor

OREGON LEGISLATURE.

Fourth Regular Session.

Senate.

FRIDAY, Oct 5, 1866

Prayer by Rev David Lee [illegible].

REPORTS FROM STANDING COMMITTEES

Mr CARTWRIGHT, from the Committee on Elections, to whom had been referred S. B No. 7—To change the time of holding the sessions of the Legislative Assembly—reported the same back without amendment and recommended its passage

On motion of Mr JOHNSON the bill was considered engrossed.

Mr CARTWRIGHT also reported back S B No. 9—To regulate contests for seats in the Legislative Assembly and for the office of Governor—with an amendment which was adopted, and the bill was ordered engrossed for third reading to-morrow

REPORTS FROM SELECT COMMITTEES

Mr FORD from the select committee to whom was referred the petition of citizens of Umatilla for aid to Mrs Mary Jane Hart reported by bill—S B No. 19—To appropriate [illegible] dollars for her relief.

PROPOSITIONS AND MOTIONS

Mr PALMER offered a resolution requesting the Secretary of State to furnish the Senate with a certified copy of the law providing for the selection of grounds for public buildings which was adopted

INTRODUCTION AND FIRST READING OF BILLS.

Mr PALMER introduced S B No. 20—To reorganize the militia of the State of Oregon.

Also S B No. 21—For the relief of C A. Reed, Adjutant General of the State of Oregon.

Mr JEFFRIES introduced S. B. No. 22—To establish the Oregon Medical College

Mr CALDWELL introduced S B No. 23—To regulate roads and highways

Mr PALMER introduced S B No. 24—To provide for the improvement of roads over which the mails are carried in this State

The above bills were severally read first time.

SECOND READING OF BILLS

S. B No 10—To increase the number of Justices of the Supreme Court and to create a new judicial district—read second time

S. B. No 12—To amend the act taxing foreign insurance and express companies doing business in this State—was read second time and referred to the Committee on Corporations

THIRD READING OF BILLS.

S. B. No. 4—To regulate enclosures—passed, yeas 21, nays none. Absent Mr. Stearns

S. B. No 7 —To change the time of the regular sessions of the Legislative Assembly

Mr FORD This bill is premature—the State ought to be divided before this bill comes up. At the time of year provided in this bill for the meeting of the Legislature, the eastern part of the State is cut off from this web foot port on by ice and snows. The Columbia river is frozen up, and deep snows on the Cascade Mountains which are difficult to pass at that season If the members from eastern Oregon should be lucky enough to get here in December, they would be compelled to remain here four or five months after the adjournment. The winter time might accommodate some members from this valley better than September, and some of the members from eastern Oregon might find better accommodations for the winter here than at home, but I think there are ample accommodations for them east of the mountains, where they can be in the winter to attend to their business. I can't see for the life of me what advantage the change can be. It certainly can be of no advantage to the people of eastern Oregon for in December the Columbia river is frozen up and members would be compelled to stay here paying expenses and drawing no pay, and unless some provision is made for paying members for thus being compelled to stay down here, I must oppose this bill as an outrage on my constituents and on members from east of the mountains

Mr CRANSTON arose to make no lengthy speech All ought to see the advantage of the change in the time of holding the sessions September is the busiest season of the year and the time when members find it most difficult to leave home, It has been objected that after the close of the session members will have to remain here four or five months If the amendment to the Constitution, which was submitted at the last session, should be adopted, the time will be extended to sixty days, which would go in the 1st of February a time of year when the Columbia is usually open. I cannot see how anybody will be outraged December is the most proper time for the members from among the farmers the bone and sinew of the country I hope the bill will pass.

Mr JEFFRIES had no personal objection to the bill, but in justice to the people of Eastern Oregon felt disposed to oppose it. It would be an inconvenience to come down here in the winter and he wanted them here; he liked their complexion—he liked their style The practical operation of the bill might prevent the Eastern counties from being represented

Mr PALMER. Always thought December the best time in the year for the Legislature to sit It is the month which will accommodate the majority of members best. It may be true as has been stated that there is some inconvenience in getting here and getting away, but if the Legislature and the people would follow the example of some of the other States and turn more attention to fixing up their roads and avenues of travel, that inconvenience would be removed and the State benefitted generally At present during a portion of the winter months the Eastern portion of the State is partially cut off but a practicable road can be made down the valley of the Columbia which will enable people to travel back and forth at all seasons The people of Southern Oregon used to complain that they could not reach this valley in the winter time on account of high water want of bridges, &c but last winter the mail stages rarely ever failed to arrive daily The streams are bridged and the means of travel so improved that there is but little interruption Hereafter the preponderance of the members will be from among the farmers—and very properly so, September is the month when they are the busiest getting in their crops and laying out the work of the future year Professional men can come at any time. No class of men come here on account of the pay—that is no inducement to any class of men. It will be a loss and an inconvenience to the eastern members to come here at any season of the year but it seems to me that during the winter when their country is frozen up and moping supposed, they could come better than at any other season

The question being taken on the passage of the bill, the vote stood yeas 13 nays 1[illegible] So the bill passed.

S. B. No 6—To incorporate the city of Scio—was read a third time and passed Yeas 20, nays none

S B No 13—To provide for the recovery of real property in cases of forcible entry and detainer etc.—was read a second time and referred to the Judiciary Committee

BILLS AND OTHER BUSINESS FROM THE HOUSE

H J R No 12—To transfer the balance of the Penitentiary fund now in the treasury—was concurred in. Yeas, 21 nays none

H B. No. 13—To pay the expenses of the Legislative Assembly—was read first time, and under a suspension of the rules, was read second and third times and passed Yeas, 19, nays, 2 absent Mr Stearns

IN COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE.

On motion of Mr DOLPH the Senate went into committee of the whole on S B No 8—Relating to common schools

Mr. MILLER in the chair

After some time spent therein the committee rose reported progress asked and obtained leave to sit again

The Senate adjourned

AFTERNOON—2 O'CLOCK—IN COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE.

On motion of Mr JOHNSON the Senate went into committee of the whole on S B No 8, relating to common schools, Mr MILLER in the chair

Section 68 being under consideration Mr JEFFRIES spoke against the adoption of the oath of allegiance which it is intended for teachers to take and subscribe He suggested that the oath is not now necessary and that he could not vote for the bill unless it were stricken out.

Mr PALMER believed in the oath that it pledged the teachers to nothing which any American citizen could object to and if any changes were made in it he would favor making it stronger If the teachers of common schools in the South—they had not many such schools in the South—but if what teachers they had had been required for the last twenty years to take such an oath to support and defend the Constitution of the United States and to teach their pupils to reverence the Government instead of imbuing the minds of pupils with the ideas of State rights and paramount allegiance to the State there never could have been so many traitors as were developed during the late deplorable war He thought it correct and proper that our children should be taught to reverence and obey the Constitution and laws of the Government and he did not wish to leave it in the power of bad men to get into our schools to poison our children with treasonable ideas A teacher who will not will fully subscribe to this oath ought not to be permitted to teach the youth of our country.

Mr HUSTON was opposed to the oath He saw no good reason for requiring it of teachers. He was not opposed to any one taking an oath to support the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of the State [illegible] but if teaching [illegible] take an oath [illegible] he was opposed to.

Of late years, it seems there has been a difference between the Constitution and the Government—they have become two separate and distinct things. The Constitution [illegible] and the Government another He recollected that the gentlemen on the other side of the House used to claim that Abraham Lincoln was the Government and by the same doctrine Andrew Johnson is the Government now It is very uncertain what shape the Government may take while the Constitution is permanent It seems now that Congress is the Government—so it will be seen the Government is somewhat changeable. [illegible] may differ in opinion as to who the Government [illegible] may think Congress another may think the President [illegible] is the Government. The Constitution [illegible] danger of being very materially changed [illegible] the hundred and one amendments offered in Congress All are willing to swear to support the Constitution as it is but all may not be willing to support it as it may become

Mr PYLE found fault also with the oath not for the same reason as that assigued by the gentleman from [illegible] but because it is not strong enough Portions of this State are thickly interspersed with traitors—men who, for their treason and unfaithfulness to the Government, have been obliged to leave the Western States and flee for shelter to this coast Some of these men, too proud to work as a last resort, take to school teaching They should be shut out, if not repentant and willing to take this oath or even a stronger one Traitors ought not to be suffered to teach treason to the children of this state.

Mr JEFFRIES The gentleman from Yamhill has said that if the teachers of the South had been required for the last twenty years to take such an oath as this there would have been no rebellion The gentleman of the same party have told us a thousand times that when the Southern Senators, Representatives, Cabinet officers &c went into the rebellion they violated the most solemn oaths, and if they had been sworn by this oath, it would have made no difference They had resolved on rebellion and all the oaths in the world would have made no difference The friends of this section say they do not want treason taught to children. I do not want treason taught, but opinions may be various as to what treason is, and what loyalty is. Some people may think loyalty consists in devotion to the interests of—[The remark was unheard —REPORTER.]—others may think it consists in devotion to the rights and interests of the Caucasian race He did not believe in these kind of oaths. He yielded to no man in loyalty, in devotion to the Constitution and reverence for the government. Some of the par excellence loyalists have been engaged for twenty years, in attempts to break up the Government He had heard one of them in Cincinnati boast that he had labored for nineteen years to break up the Government We are accused of being opposed to this bill, we are opposed to the objectionable features of it If the bill is calculated to teach in our schools, the peculiar ideas of the Republican party—principles that I don't agree with, I am opposed to the bill Teachers might differ as to what the law would require them to teach for loyalty, some might feel bound to teach the principles of the Republican party; others to teach Democracy In either case I am opposed to it He had no objection to an oath to support the Constitution of the United States the State of Oregon, and to faithfully discharge the duties of a teacher but this oath requires the teacher to support the Government and with the peculiar ideas now prevalent as to what constitutes the Government, the oath is objectionable

Mr DOLPH Was sorry to see the discussion of provisions in this bill taking a political character and expressed the hope that in all future consideration of the subject matter, gentlemen would confine themselves to the subject as relates to the educational interests of the State

Mr STEARNS. The question is, Is it right to support the Constitution and the Government of the United States? If it is, then it is right to swear to do it Is there anything wrong proposed to be done in this oath? If there is, I cannot see it. I can see nothing required by it which it is not the duty of a loyal citizen to do.

Mr HUSTON followed in a political speech, going over the usual grounds on that side of the question of test oaths

Mr CORNELIUS. All the great Constitutional questions of the day seem to have been discussed but we are not making progress with this bill I move that the committee rise and report the bill back with the amendments agreed to, and recommend that it pass.

The motion was agreed to.

The amendments proposed by the committee—thirty three in number—being acted upon separately they were all adopted by the Senate

Mr CRAWFORD moved to strike out all the oath in Section 67 and to substitute simply an oath to support the Constitutions of the United States and of Oregon and to faithfully discharge the duties of a teacher—which was agreed to, yeas, 18 nays, 2.

On motion of Mr HUSTON, Section 69 was amended in a similar manner—yeas, 15, nays, 5.

On motion of Mr DOLPH, the bill was ordered engrossed for third reading to morrow

A message was received from the Secretary of State, transmitting the volume of enrolled laws, in response to a resolution of the Senate, this morning

H. B. No. 4—For the relief of the counties comprising the 5th Judicial District—was read first time

Mr HINSDALE presented the petition of Dr G W Brown of Salem, asking for a charter authorizing him to establish a medical college

The peculiar phraseology of the petition created a considerable merriment, and

Mr DOLPH moved to refer it to the committee on Mining

Mr DONNELL moved to amend to refer it to the committee on Insane Asylum.

Mr STEARNS moved to refer to the committee on Military Affairs.

Mr PYLE moved to lay it on the table, which was adopted

Mr POWELL introduced S. B. 25—to amend the present road law

The Senate adjourned

House.

House met as usual Prayer by Rev Mr Williams of the Episcopal church. Journal of yesterday read and approved.

Mr GILES from the committee appointed to consider H B. No. 5 which proposes to so amend sections one and eight of chapter XVIII of the General Laws so as to require license for the sale of spirituous liquors in less quantities than one gallon, and to authorize the County Court to revoke any license before its expiration, without requiring a petition therefor, reported a substitute requiring the party applying for license to present a petition from a majority of the legal voters of the county

Mr HELM from the same committee presented a minority report recommending an amendment to insert the word "quart" instead of "gallon" Both propositions were ordered printed.

TAXING U. S. BONDS.

Mr HELM offered a resolution instructing the Committee on Judiciary to report a bill for the taxation of United States Bonds and urged its adoption He thought it very important that this Legislature should act upon that proposition, for the well known reason that there is a species of property in the State which is exempt from taxation and believed that all property should be taxed in accordance with the principles of uniformity and justice I presume the right of the State to tax U S bonds and in fact all Government securities will not longer be questioned, as the Supreme Court of the United States has decided that the States through their legislatures may provide for the taxation of such bonds and securities. Such was the decision of a majority of the Supreme Court Chief Justice Chase and one other dissenting The men who hold these bonds are rich and able to pay taxes on them, certainly they are much more so than are poor men to pay all the taxes for ordinary expenses and for interest on the bonds besides. The present policy of exempting such men from taxation has a tendency to create a moneyed aristocracy in the country

Mr HUMASON There is a bill in course of preparation covering the grounds in question and I think this resolution unnecessary If an opinion from the Judiciary Committee is desired, the bill, when it comes before the House, may be referred to the committee.

Mr WORTH I do not see any necessity of throwing anything in the way of the resolution. I think it would be a much better way as a general practice to direct bills to be prepared by committees, instead of loading our desks with numerous bills of a similar nature The action of the House upon this resolution will show its feeling in regard to the policy of such taxation I am in favor of taxing those bonds, and I am in favor of this resolution

Mr UPTON I think propositions and motions only are now in order and that this is, therefore strictly speaking not properly before the House I should prefer to see a bill introduced according to the rules and disposed of as other bills are Under this way of doing business measures which were first introduced will be last attended to Mr WORTH insisted that the resolution should be entertained.

The SPEAKER suggested that if the House was not prepared to act upon the resolution it might be made the special order for a day certain.

Mr STARKWEATHER I am not now prepared to act upon this proposition It strikes me that there is no necessity for this haste in the matter The Judiciary are now crowded with business and I see no reason to thrust this matter upon them Let the bill be duly prepared and then referred to the committee

Mr UPTON Do I understand that the discussion is in order? I do not make any objection to taking the sense of the House

Mr HENDERSHOTT I think the resolution should be laid on the table, and if it is agreeable to the gentleman from Multnomah I will so move

Mr UPTON I am willing that the motion shall be made, but I desire to make a few remarks first. In regard to the propriety of this measure, it is my opinion that even if we, as the Legislature of this State, have the right to pass such a law—if such a law is constitutional and binding—it is impolitic to do it. In a time of great national peril, when the Government was called upon to put forth all its power in order to save the existence of the Republic, the officers at the head of our Government saw fit to take this mode of extending its credit for the purpose of raising the material of necessary war It will be conceded by the gentleman who advocate this measure that the Government had the right to adopt any measure not forbidden by the Constitution of the United States that would preserve its integrity The worst of all governments and the most cowardly would be the one that would yield up its existence without being overcome by superior force Under the circumstances mentioned the Government issued these bonds, pledging the faith of the nation that they should be redeemed One of those pledges was this condition, that the bonds should be exempt from taxation Now can any one claim that the Government had not this power? Then supposing that the States have the power to tax these bonds is it just that they should exercise a power which would, in part annul the contract under which the friends of the nation advanced the money to save it from ruin? Again it is argued that there is a great amount of property that is not taxed Now are we sure that this is true in fact? The money upon which these bonds are predicated has been paid out by the individual and [illegible] the coffers of the nation [illegible] has been expended by the Government in our defense It is not in possession [illegible] the bondholder—the money is [illegible] in Oregon It is [illegible] a part of the visible tangible property in the State and therefore it is no violation of law and [illegible] to refuse to tax these bonds He contended that [illegible] was the Government to exempt the bonds from taxation By this means the money was secured from our own citizens and the bonds retained in our country Now if it is the business of the State [illegible] increase the [illegible] to show that we consider [illegible] mention [illegible] to talk about [illegible]

Mr HUMASON argued the right of the State to tax the bonds He thought no consideration should be given to the plea that the money was furnished the Government from patriotic motives. It was, in fact, given at a time when the Government was obliged to have it, and those who loaned it took advantage of the condition of the country to exact those unreasonable terms, and now he wished to make them do the fair thing in the matter. He also urged that it was tending to build up a moneyed aristocracy. He wished to compel these men to bear a portion of the burdens of taxation.

Mr. NICKLIN regretted to see this disposition to bring up these old campaign questions, to be re-discussed here, thus occupying time which should be devoted to the business of the country. I believe that the man who would desire to tax U. S. bonds would willingly, if he could do so, violate the pledge of the Government in that or any other contract expressed or implied. He replied to the argument that, the money had been loaned for no other than the desire to make money out of the investment. It is well to know that money can be loaned anywhere on this coast for twelve per cent. These bonds bring an interest of only five and seven per cent—a much less rate than money is worth here. He was glad that we had rich men who were patriotic enough to come forward at a time when no one could be sure that the Government would survive the struggle and advance the needed funds.

Mr. WORTH advocated the proposition at length. He said he deemed it his duty to see that some legislation was had on this subject. His constituents demanded it.

Mr. HELM argued the right of the States to pass such laws and also the equity of the taxation of all property. There is a difference in the powers of Congress and those of the States. Congress has only such power as is expressly delegated to it while the State Legislatures have all powers which are not expressly forbidden.

At 11:45 A. M., on motion of Mr. AVERY, adjourned.

AFTERNOON.

Mr. COX advocated the resolution at considerable length. He scouted the idea of the bonds being in the hands of disinterested men or patriots. He argued the right to tax the bonds, and he deemed it a matter of injustice to the people to pass such a law.

Mr. BOLAND would have preferred this matter postponed for the introduction of a bill. The policy of the Democracy in advocating this measure—and he was glad to see it had no advocates outside the Democratic party—was only a continuation of the policy embarrassing the Government to which they adhered during the late war. He hoped there was patriotism enough—and did not doubt that there was—in the Legislature to pass such a law. He intended to stand firmly by the plighted faith of the nation.

Mr. AVERY thought the money had been advanced by patriotic men for a noble purpose, and it is now an insult to intimate that they do not desire to bear an equal burden of our expenses by paying taxes on their property in these bonds.

Mr. HERMAN reviewed the history of the action of the Supreme Court upon this question, showing that Chief Justice Marshall had decided that it is unconstitutional for any State to tax any security bond of the United States. He denied that the bonds are in the hands of the rich exclusively. They are held by the poor—that is by persons of very moderate means—and by persons in all the avocations of life. It would be setting a very dangerous precedent to step in now and interfere with contracts made by the Government. It would be sowing the seeds of discord and of national destruction.

At 4 o'clock P. M., Mr. HELM moved the previous question and the resolution was adopted by a strict party vote. Ayes, 24; nays, 22; Messrs. Melvin and Locey being absent.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Mr. HENDERSHOTT offered a resolution that no member shall hereafter be permitted to speak more than twice nor more than ten minutes at any time upon the same subject, which was laid on the table under the rules.

Mr. BOLAND gave notice of a bill for the relief of Charles Pleasant.

Mr. COCHRAN gave notice of a bill to punish the crime of abduction—enticing young girls out of the State to be married.

Mr. FOUDRAY gave notice of a bill to license foreigners mining in this State.

Mr. NICKLIN gave notice of a bill to prevent persons from casting any carcass or offal into any flowing stream.

Mr. UPTON gave notice of a bill for the relief of Wm. Kapus, mustering officer.

Mr. STARKWEATHER gave notice of a bill for the sale of school lands and to distribute the income of the common school fund.

Several bills were read a second time and appropriately referred or otherwise disposed of.

ENGROSSED BILLS READ A THIRD TIME.

The bill to appropriate $2,100 for the relief of the counties of the Fifth Judicial District for money paid Judge Wilson passed, 25 ayes to 18 nays.

The bill to create Job Hatfield, S. D. Hinsdale and J. B. Leeds a Board of Pilot Commissioners to examine candidates for pilots for the Umpqua river bar and to grant branches to the same, passed unanimously.

The bill to drain lands in Union county was taken up and, after a lengthy discussion, in which it was objected that money should not be appropriated to improve the lands till notice of approval of their selection has been received, the bill was made the special order for to-morrow at three o'clock P. M.

At 4:45 P. M., on motion of Mr. WITHERS, the House adjourned.

Senate.

SATURDAY, Oct. 6, 1866.

Prayer by Rev. Dr. Wythe.

REPORTS FROM STANDING COMMITTEES.

Mr. CARTWRIGHT, from Committee on Elections, to whom had been referred S. B. No. 11—registry law—asked for further time to consider the bill. Granted.

Mr. BAYLEY, from Committee on Corporations, to whom had been referred S. B. No. 12—to amend the act taxing foreign insurance and express companies, &c.—reported the same back without amendment and recommended its passage.

SECOND READING OF BILLS.

S. B. No. 14—for the relief of Stephen Rigdon—on motion of Mr. DOLPH, was referred to the Committee on Claims.

S. B. No. 15—to amend the Civil Code—was read by title and on motion of Mr. POWELL, was referred to the Judiciary Committee.

S. B. No. 16—regulating the organization of the Legislative Assembly—was read second time and, on motion of Mr. HUSTON, was referred to the Judiciary Committee.

H. B. No. 4—for the relief of the counties composing the Fifth Judicial District—was read second time.

Mr. DOLPH offered an amendment appropriating $2,100 for the benefit of Judge Shattuck. He said he did not know how he might vote on the bill; the amendment was offered without consultation with Judge Shattuck or any one else, and because he would like to see these kind of favors impartially distributed. If just to give this money to one county, he could see no reason why his county should not come in for its share.

Mr. CARTWRIGHT. This amendment is evidently offered to kill the bill. If I were disposed to kill it, I would vote against it direct, instead of loading it down with amendments. Now, those counties have made the expenditures enumerated in the bill, and they ought to be reimbursed. I am in favor of doing it.

Mr. DOLPH. We ought not to appropriate money by indirect means that we cannot do directly. If we appropriate this money to reimburse those counties, and thus practically increase the salary of the Judge, it will make a dangerous precedent, and no one can tell where this species of innovation upon the Constitution will end. Other counties will pay their officers extra amounts and then come here to be reimbursed. I hope the amendment will prevail.

Mr. CARTWRIGHT. The Constitution provides that salaries of judges cannot be raised or diminished. The salary of the Judge of the 5th District is totally inadequate. That those counties might not be compelled to suffer in consequence of such inadequacy, they appropriated money out of their own treasuries to pay the Judge, and they ought to be reimbursed.

Mr. JOHNSON. I would like to ask the gentleman if we can do indirectly what we cannot do directly. If we can—if the gentleman can satisfy me that we can appropriate this money without infracting the Constitutional provision in relation to salaries, I will vote for the bill. If not, I cannot exactly satisfy my conscience to vote for it.

Mr. ISON. I wish to make a few statements in relation to this bill. Judge Wilson informs me that he kept an exact account of his expenses in travelling and holding the Courts, and the expenses exceeded his salary. Those counties pay their taxes—the State ought to pay its officers. If the counties see fit to pay the Judge, the State should repay the counties. Whether the county commissioners had the right to appropriate the money, is doubtful; but they did it, and now we ask to have it repaid as an act of justice. We had to appropriate the money or not have justice administered. You cannot expect any officer to travel through those mountains without paying him. Those counties should have courts held and have justice administered if it costs four or five times what it costs in the counties of this Valley.

Mr. PYLE supported the bill because it was an act of simple justice. A fair construction of the constitution will allow the act. The Legislature may do anything which is not prohibited by the Constitution. The Constitution provides what salaries may be paid, but it does not prohibit the raising of salaries. We may, therefore, increase them. A State Constitution is simply a limitation of power—the Constitution of the United States is a grant of power. Those counties paid the money, it is true, without any authority of law. They took the chances on that and they ought to be reimbursed.

Mr. JOHNSON. I would like to ask the gentleman a question. The Constitution of the State says the term of office of the Governor shall be four years, and does not say that we shall not make it eight years. Will the gentleman say, therefore, that we can make the term eight years?

Mr. PYLE. That is a question I have not explained.

Mr HUSTON. If there is any reason for the bill, there is none for the amendment. The bill would only repay the counties for what they had given the judge; the amendment is a direct increase of salary.

Mr. BAYLEY. We have heard it threatened that the judges will resign if their salaries are not raised. That has been a standing threat. But there is not the least danger of any of them resigning. They will stick to the offices as long as they are offered to them. This matter is a good deal like the farmer's pig. He said he had to pull his ears off to get him to the trough and then pull his tail off to get him away. [Laughter.] The Judges, notwithstanding this constant threatening to resign, are always ready and anxious to be re-elected whether the salaries are raised or not.

Mr. DOLPH'S amendment was lost—Yeas 6, nays 15.

Mr. CRANSTON offered an amendment to appropriate $1,000 to Judge Stratton, which was lost.

Mr. MILLER offered an amendment to appropriate $2,000 to Judge Prim for extraordinary services in 1865-6. He said he would vote for the bill if the amendment were adopted; if rejected he would vote against the bill.

Mr. PALMER was opposed to both amendment and bill on constitutional grounds.

Mr. CARTWRIGHT moved to refer to a select committee of three.

Mr. CRANSTON moved to indefinitely postpone the bill.

Mr. STERNS stated the general reasons why the bill should not be postponed, setting forth the difficulties under which the Judge of the Fifth District had labored in performing the increased duties imposed upon him by the development of the country; the inadequacy of the salary, etc. He did not believe the Constitution in the way. He did not think any of the Judges were sufficiently paid, least of all the Judge of the Fifth District. It has been said the Judges knew what the salaries were when they accepted the offices and that their pay could not be increased. It is true, Judge Wilson was willing and very anxious to be re-elected. He was willing to sacrifice himself on the altar of his country. The reason of that was that there was a scarcity of legal talent in that district. Be that matter, however, as it may be, those counties have paid the money and they ought to have them repaid.

Mr JOHNSON preferred that the bill should go to a third reading and have a fair expression of the Senate than to dispose of it by postponement. No man is more anxious than I am, as my action on some of the Constitutional amendments will testify, that the Legislature should have power over the question of salaries. No man knows better or appreciates more fully the fact that many of our officers and especially the Judges, are poorly paid; and I know that the Judge of the Fifth Judicial district is scarcely able to make his bread and butter out of his salary. I know, too, that our judges are efficient but that is not the question; the difficulty is a Constitutional provision, and the only way to get around that is to take the view taken by the gentlemen from Union. I should like to ask the gentleman from Union, and the gentleman from Grant, if the Legislature have power to create an independent Supreme Court before the State shall have 200,000 inhabitants. The Constitution says the term of the Governor shall be four years; it does not prohibit the Legislature from making it eight years; and yet, will the gentlemen claim, as they resolved a little while since, that the Legislature can constitutionally make the Governor's term eight years. Whatever term the Constitution fixes, is absolute, and the Legislature cannot change it without first amending the Constitution. The same principle holds good in relation to salaries. The Constitution says the salary of the Judges shall be $2,000. We can no more enlarge that than we can diminish it.

The discussion was further continued by Messrs. Dolph and Cartwright.

The question being taken on the motion to indefinitely postpone the bill, the yeas were 13; nays, 9.

S. B. No. 9—To regulate contests for seats in the Legislative Assembly—was read third time and passed—yeas, 21; nays, none.

S. B. No. 10—To increase the number of Justices of the Supreme Court—was read third time.

Mr. STERNS moved to refer to a select committee of three, which was agreed to, and Messrs. Sterns, Jeffries and Pyle were appointed such committee.

Mr. PALMER introduced S. B. No. 24—To authorize counties, cities and towns to aid in public improvements.

The Senate adjourned.

AFTERNOON—2 o'clock.

Mr. DONNELL asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. Ford.

THIRD READING OF BILLS.

S. B. No. 12—To regulate foreign insurance—was read third time and recommitted to the Committee on Corporations.

On motion of Mr. DOLPH, the Committee on Elections was instructed to report on S. B. No. 11 on Monday morning.

Mr. STERNS, from the select committee, to whom was referred S. B. No. 10—To increase the number of Justices of the Supreme Court—presented a majority and a minority report.

The majority report proposed only a technical amendment. The minority report proposed the same, and also to constitute the 6th district of the counties of Baker and Grant, instead of Umatilla, Union and Baker, as in the bill.

The majority report was adopted.

The bill being put upon its passage, was lost—yeas 6; nays, 11.

Mr. CALDWELL offered a resolution reciting that whereas this Assembly has come here at a great pecuniary loss to elect Hon. H. W. Corbett, United States Senator, therefore resolved that the said H. W. Corbett be requested to give each member a free pass over his stage line.

After several humorous motions to amend had been offered, Mr. Caldwell had leave to withdraw the resolution.

The Senate adjourned.

House.

A resolution to request the Governor to call out a sufficient volunteer force to protect the citizens of Eastern Oregon, if the General Government fails to furnish such protection within thirty days, was discussed at length and made the special order for Monday at 10 o'clock A. M.

A resolution introduced by Mr. GARLICK, to fix the trial of the Polk county case for Monday the 8th inst., was voted down by 22 ayes, to 22 nays; Messrs. Dempsey and Hall (the sitting members) not voting; Mr. Rosenheim nay, and Mr. Locey absent from sickness.

In the afternoon, a resolution, introduced by Mr. WORTH to declare Mr. Upton ineligible to a seat in the Legislature by reason of his holding the office of City Attorney, was considered and made the order for 4 o'clock P. M. of Monday the 8th inst.

A resolution, introduced by Mr. HERMAN, to try the Polk county case during next week, was adopted without a call for the yeas and nays.

A series of resolutions, introduced by Mr. HUMASON, to declare the ratification of the amendment to the United States Constitution fraudulent, were adopted by a vote of 24 yeas to 18 nays; Mr. Rosenheim voting aye, and Messrs. Herman, Parris, White and Cole being absent on official business to the Penitentiary, and Mr. Locey sick. The absentees will be permitted to record their votes, and will vote nay, making 23 nays.

Mr. HENDERSHOTT'S bill—to improve lands in Union county—passed by a vote of 29 yeas to 13 nays.

The Daily Oregonian.

MONDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 8, 1866.

The Oregon Central Railroad.

We take pleasure in noting that there seems to be a general anxiety upon the part of the people, to take hold of some means to develop the resources of the interior of the State. The Straight Jacket, which the Constitution imposed improperly enough a few years ago, is now felt to be an obnoxious barrier to the healthy development and prosperity of the State, and many plans are being suggested to avoid the stringency with which it prohibits the State from aiding works of internal improvement. The most hopeful of success of any of the railroad enterprises now before the people of the State, is doubtless the one lately projected by the "Oregon Central Railroad Company," the articles of incorporation together with the names of the incorporators of which, may be found in another column of this issue.

By an Act of Congress, approved July 25th, 1866, twenty sections of public land per mile, have been donated by Congress to aid in the construction of a railroad from this city to the Southern boundary of the State—the land to be selected within thirty miles of the line of the road. A joint resolution is now pending before the Legislature, if it has not already passed, designating the above named company as the corporation which shall receive and manage this land grant. This land, if all secured, and it is belived that all or most all of it will be found, will constitute a security for the basis of the Company's bonds in the eastern money markets, and will enable it to raise money there, after the work is commenced here, no matter what we in Oregon may think of the present value of the land grant. But in addition to this grant from the general government, Oregon herself must do something for the enterprise. By the terms of the grant the company cannot get possession of any part of the land donated, or in any way derive any benefit from it, until the first section of twenty miles, commencing at the northern end, has been finished and put in operation to the satisfaction of the Government Commissioners appointed to inspect it. It will cost from twelve to fifteen million dollars to construct a railroad to the southern boundary of the State, and probably about four millions to build it to the head of the Willamette Valley, which last portion will pay dividends as soon as it can be finished. The money to accomplish so large a work as this cannot of course be raised in Oregon or even the Pacific coast. We have not even the money to build the Willamette valley portion, so greatly needed as it is, or even one half of it; but there can be no question but the State, and the towns and counties of the valley are abundantly able to secure the interest on at least two million dollars of the company's bonds. The State is abundantly able to take at least one-half of this sum, while the incorporated towns and counties of the valley could make up the interest on another million among them. This is the true way to render assistance to all such enterprises. While the annual interest on these sums would be a small matter to the whole masses of the people, acting through their State, county and town organizations, it would be a large matter to a railroad company in the infancy of its organization and earnings; while the principal sum of the bonds, payable all at once would be a heavy matter for the people to pay at any time—yet in twenty years the railroad company will have grown strong enough in the development of the country, and increase of its earnings to easily float a bonded indebtedness representing the entire cost of the whole work. In another view, this plan of rendering the enterprise the needed aid, recommends itself to the consideration of the Legislature: viz. that it is a matter which will benefit the whole State, and all the inhabitants. Nine-tenths of the population of the State live along the general route of the proposed road, and while money thus invested by the State might not benefit the people of Eastern Oregon so much as those west of the Cascades, yet if it is shown that any aid rendered by the State will not increase the rate of taxation in the aggregate, there can be no reasonable objection urged from any quarter. While it is the interest of all to have the railroad and the increase of values, business and property which it will bring with it, it would not be the inclination of all to aid it from their individual purses; and because a tax, which would fall equally on property, to aid the enterprise, is the just one to aid it, therefore it is the one which should be adopted.

It may be suggested that the Constitution even interposes objections to this, but after investigating the subject we are of the opinion that there is no barrier to aiding the matter, in this direction. When the subject was before the Legislature two years ago, it was pretty thoroughly investigated, and the Legislature concluded that it had the power to levy a tax and appropriate the same towards paying the annual interest due from the railroad company, and in pursuance of that view a bill was passed into a law which provided a fund of $200,000 in the aggregate, in five annual installments of $10,000 each. This offer on the part of the State being entirely too meagre, the company which was incorporated in this city at that time to construct a Willamette Valley Railroad, did not accept the offer. Since that time the Legislature of the State of California passed an act agreeing to pay interest on $1,500,000 of the Central Pacific Railroad Company, and the Constitution of that State being similar to our own on that subject, the matter was brought before the Supreme Court of the State of California in order to test the law, and after a lengthy discussion by the ablest lawyers in that State, the Supreme Court decided that the Legislature had the power to grant the aid offered, and that therefore the law was a constitutional enactment. We hope to be able to publish a synopsis of that decision in a few days.

The principle of levying and appropriating a special tax to aid the railroad company by paying interest on its bonds, being adopted by the State, we can see no reason why the Legislature should not authorize the incorporated towns, cities and counties to use the same principle, and render all the aid which in their collective capacity they might be able to give.

We hope to see the Legislature take hold of the matter in earnest and enable the State to do something towards developing our vast and hitherto unknown resources. It will be the making of Oregon over again, and be the first step towards that future greatness which will reward judicious action. It will double the taxable property of the State, and permit a reduction of the rate of taxation instead of increasing it. Let the Legislature promptly second the liberal donation from the General Government, and we are assured that the company which has been incorporated to construct the work, will energetically push it forward to final completion.

Humason and Helm—Ignorance no Disqualification for the Assembly.

In the course of the debate in the House on the resolution to tax United States bonds, we notice that the Nesmith member—Humason—and the Democratic member—Helm—repeatedly asserted that the Supreme Court of the United States had decided that the States had the right to tax these bonds. We did not notice that this flagrant assertion was contradicted by the Union members. They may have thought the game not worth the candle. Be this as it may, nothing could be further from the truth. No such decision has ever been made, and we challenge these political tyros to the proof of their statement. All the decisions of this tribunal have been directly to the contrary, as we have shown time and again during the June canvass. Since the present bonds have been issued there have been repeated decisions of that court directly affirming the long established doctrine that the bonds of the United States were not subject to State taxation.

We are loth to presume that Messrs. H. and H., representing as they do the two wings of the broken Oregon Democracy, were asserting what they knew to be untrue. If their excuse is ignorance, and it must be so, unless they are wilfully wrong, we think it a pity that such men are intrusted with the power to do mischief, by being elected to the Assembly. The whole scheme is repudiation in a dishonest guise—for partisan and party purposes—an attempt to induce this State to nullify an act of Congress and override the Constitution of the United States.

STATE ITEMS.

The Sentinel learns from a private letter that Thos. Clark killed Skiff Kelly at Empire City, Coos county, on the 18th inst. The circumstances of the killing are as follows: Clark was working in the mill on that day, and when down at dinner, or on his return to the mill, met Kelly. Clark and Kelly came out of the house together, and when on the piazza, Clark was seen to strike Kelly, who fell, but soon rose again, when Clark, catching him by the pants, threw him off the piazza on a scantling. Kelly turned a complete somersault, and laid helpless on the ground. He was taken up and carried into the house speechless, and in a short time died without uttering a word. Clark was arrested, and at the time the letter was written, was in the hands of the sheriff. The causes leading to the affray are not stated.

The Sentinel says the Davenport Quartz Company struck the ledge in the lower tunnel last week, but were not in far enough to judge of the character of the rock. The water comes in so fast that tubing will have to be used before any more blasting can be done.

The Mountaineer of the 5th says: A most dastardly attempt to fire the city was made last night. An unoccupied building on Fourth street, immediately in the rear of the Catholic Church and adjoining the residences of Messrs. Wingate and Snipes, was fired about eleven o'clock, and so rapidly did the flames spread that for a time the town was in danger of a general conflagration. The wind had been blowing up stream all the evening, and it is that fact which, we suppose, caused the scoundrel to fire the city at that end, that it might have full sway of the town. In a short time after the alarm was given the Fire Department was on the ground, when the building was torn down and the fire extinguished. Mr. Benjamin Snipes' residence was saved by placing wet blankets on the building.

Our Dalles correspondent, under date of the 5th, writes as follows: I have written you so much about Indians and their depredations of late, it has become almost an old story thrice told, and sometimes I think that I will drop the quill, but there is no abatement to the hostilities. By stage to-day there is additional news from the road to Canyon City. The Indians are evidently on the "war path." On Tuesday night signal fires were seen south of the road this side of Camp Watson. On Monday morning early, about nine o'clock, a large party of Indians made an attempt to get the stage stock at Alkali Flat, and would have succeeded, had not a number of teams come up just as they did. The Indians, evidently fearing a hot pursuit, abandoned their object and made their escape to the mountains unharmed. On the next morning, before daylight, the same party or another party, made an attempt to capture and destroy Mr. Pennington's house—known as the Bridge Creek House, on Bridge Creek—together with the barn, hay and grain, but fortunately a detachment of soldiers were halted for the night at the ranch, and hearing the approach of the Indians, fired at the objects they saw. After exchanging several shots, the Indians fled. Whether any were killed or wounded, is not known. There is a large amount of freight at the Dalles for the John Day country, but Indians have so frightened the freighters that it is a difficult matter to induce them to venture out on the road with their teams. A few days ago, freights were engaged at four cents a pound, but to-day I very much doubt if any contract could be let to deliver freight for any less than ten cents per pound. So much for "Mr. Lo." Trade might be said to be nearly cut off with the John Day country. I understand that there has been merchandise sent via Umatilla and Granite Creek, to Canyon City, for safety. The stage is running again. Colonel Baker furnishes an escort through the infested country.

FROM WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

Captain Wm. Kelly, of Vancouver, has been appointed a vice-president of the "Associated Veterans of the Mexican War," an association recently organized in San Francisco, with Gen. Halleck as President.

The finances of the city of Vancouver are in good condition. A statement published in the Register shows a balance in the treasury of $1825 60. Of this, $1000 is to be appropriated for the purchase of a fire engine.

Right Rev. A. M. A. Blanchet, Bishop of Nisqually, has gone to Baltimore with the view of attending a Plenary Council of all the Catholic Bishops in the United States, which meets the fourth Sunday of this month. The Council has been called by papal permission by the Archbishop of Baltimore, who is the Primate of the Catholic Church in the United States.

Collector Moore has appointed J. M. Fletcher, Esq., of Vancouver, Collector in place of Mr. Jones, who goes to Walla Walla.

Col. Hodges and other officers connected with the military service in this Department have gone on a tour of inspection to Puget Sound.

The Register says: We are requested to acknowledge a donation of $125 in U. S. coin from citizens of Portland, who generously contributed this sum to aid Mr. W. Stevens, one of the sufferers by the late fire.

The Register says: Mr. J. C. Ainsworth, President of the Cascade Railroad Company, gives notice that he will sell the interest of G. W. Johnson in said Company on the 11th inst., at the Cascades, to defray the delinquent assessments of Mr. Johnson, amounting to $15,000.

Ansil Marble has just put in operation a new grist and saw mill on Salmon creek, six miles north of Vancouver.

Articles of Incorporation of the Oregon Central Railroad Company.

The following are the articles of incorporation of the "Oregon Central Railroad Company" elsewhere alluded to:

Know all men by these presents, that we, the undersigned citizens of Oregon, do hereby associate ourselves together as a private incorporation, under and by virtue of the provisions of the General Incorporation Laws of said State.

1st. The corporation hereby created shall be known as the "Oregon Central Railroad Company," and its duration unlimited.

2d. The object and business of the incorporation shall be to construct and operate a railroad from the city of Portland through the Willamette Valley to the southern boundary of the State: under the laws of Oregon and the laws of Congress recently passed, granting land and aid for for such purpose.

3d. The corporation shall have its principal office in the city of Portland.

4th. The capital stock of the corporation shall be five million dollars, divided into general and preferred interest bearing stock, in such proportions as the incorporators, or Board of Directors, may deem proper.

5th. The amount of each share of the capital stock shall be one hundred dollars.

6th. The termini of the railroad proposed to be constructed by said company, shall be, for the northern end, the city of Portland, and for the southern end, at some point on or near the boundary of the State as may be hereafter determined by actual survey.

In witness whereof we have hereunto set our hands and seal, this — day of September, A. D. 1866.

MILLS.—We have compiled some information in regard to the great lumbering interests of the Sound which we lay before the readers of the OREGONIAN. Our object is to invite the attention of our moneyed men [illegible] a good investment for capital to this business. Mr [illegible] has furnished us with a list of the principal mills upon the Sound and their capacity. The Freeport mill is situated opposite Seattle—was built in 1863 by Messrs Williamson, Jackson and Plummer. This [illegible] double-circular and an edger. Its capacity is fifteen million feet per annum. The mill at Port Madison owned by G. A. Meigs was built in 1854—has been burned twice and blown up once—sawed last season eighteen million feet of lumber. This mill runs one double circular and an edger now, but it is unfinished—when completed this mill will saw thirty million of feet per annum. The Port Gamble mills are owned by Pope & Talbot and were built in 1854. These mills have a capacity of fifteen million feet per annum. The Port Ludlow mill owned by Amos Phinney & Co has a capacity of ten million feet of lumber per year. The Port Blakely mill has a capacity of ten million of feet per year. The Port Orchard mill has a capacity of eight million feet of lumber per year. The Port Discovery mill owned by the Mastic Company has a capacity of ten million feet lumber per year. The Seabeck mills on Hood's Canal owned by Adams Blinn & Co. were built in 1858, and have a capacity of twelve million feet of lumber per year. The Utsalady mill, owned by Grennon & Crawley is exclusively engaged in the foreign trade—sawing spars &c. This mill has a spar twelve inches in diameter at the larger end sawn and which is one hundred and fifty feet in length, which it intends sending to the World's Fair. The aggregate capacity of these mills we have named (and we [illegible] but the principal ones) is about one hundred and ten millions feet yearly, and they do not keep pace with the demand. Meigs has now on hand a contract for one million feet of square timber for the San Francisco market. Numbers of vessels are now in the Sound, taking in full cargoes of lumber for Australia. A short description of the career of Mr Meigs as a lumber man will show the great importance of this interest. When he built his mill in 1854 he was a poor man comparatively. The mill has been twice burnt and once blown up, but immediately the new structure rose and in a short time business was actively renewed. There is attached to the mill, a foundry machine shops, stores, &c. In fact it is complete in itself. The town of Port Madison has been built by the mill and is entirely dependent upon it. The [illegible] of the place will probably exceed $250 000. All the mills upon the Sound have built up around them villages which are supported by the mills and the trade they bring. Most of the mills own vessels engaged in the trade the number and valuation of which we cannot estimate. It is a greater task than time and space will permit to estimate the wealth and power of the lumber interests of the Sound and our object is simply to present a few of the most prominent facts and let you draw your own conclusion. The logs for these mills are hauled from 20 to 120 miles. The body of timber upon the Columbia river, the Willamette river, Tualatin river, Lewis river, Willamette Slough, Scappoose Bay, Cowlitz river and numerous others, is inexhaustible. The growth is rapid enough to keep the supply up for ever. Had Meigs have established his mill in Portland in 1854 instead of placing it upon the Sound as he did he would at this time have been a millionaire. The growth of his property alone would have amounted to a large sum. It is held that no enterprise offers greater inducements than the establishment of a large first class mill in Portland. The city alone will use about eight million feet of lumber per year. Five and a half million feet has been [illegible] by mills in the city three million feet furnished by country mills. Vessels come here with freight and go out in ballast for the Sound, because there they can [illegible] at much lower rates. The reason of this is obvious. Our mills, small and inferior, cannot compete with the Sound mills in price, yet there is no good reason why a first class mill in Portland cannot furnish lumber by the cargo as cheap as Meigs or any other mill.

POLICE COURT.—In Police Court Saturday, we see an old offender, James Cunningham, whose liking for whisky outweighs his fear of bugs in the city jail long enough to get dead drunk before he was found unable to navigate [illegible]. He was sent to the lock-up for five days to sober off, and to ruminate over the hardness of humanity in general and city officers in particular.

[illegible] Jim Hee Kee and Quack Me charged with robbing Mr. Julius E. Levy on the evening of the 5th inst, by entering his dwelling, corner of Front and Main streets, and stealing money and other valuables to the amount of $350, were brought before Justice Court for [illegible]. It will be remembered that the coat and other stolen articles were found in the house of Jim Hee Kee. Jim was prepared with defence, and a number of [illegible] were introduced to prove his previous good [illegible]. The witnesses testified that Hee Kee had resided in Portland and that his character was good. A letter written in China characters was found in the pocket of Jim Hee Kee, and was introduced as evidence, and a [illegible] was sent for to read it. The letter purported to be from a friend of Jim's at Jacksonville and [illegible] nothing that would have any bearing upon the case. After the letter was read, Jim in a fit of abstraction [illegible] thrust it in the stove. Quack Me seems to have been in the city but a short time, and in fact seems friendless and alone. It is difficult to elicit information in regard to him, as he cannot understand or make himself understood. Many think that he had nothing to do with the robbery, and that Hee Kee is using him as a blind. The examination will be resumed to-day.

[illegible]—The opening of the Riverside Track [illegible] for last Saturday was postponed until to-day [illegible] of the rain. On yesterday we went over the track and found it in excellent condition. Mr. Williams the proprietor has spared no trouble or expense in its [illegible]. He has fitted up seats that will seat 500 persons, on a commanding spot, so that the whole course is in full view. The races to-day are of such a character that the ladies can be assured that they cannot but be [illegible] and pleased in attending. The whole of the [illegible] throughout will be driven by gentlemen, well known in the city, and who would no doubt be pleased that their lady friends should be there to see them succeed. The first race will be double team to road wagons. Amateur drivers, mile heats, best two in three. Three teams are entered. Next will be pool races, single horse to wagon, owners to drive, mile heats, best two in three, nine horses entered. The races will begin at 1 o'clock promptly.

[illegible]—Mr. A. B. Hallock of Multnomah [illegible] Co No. 2, received the nomination for Chief [illegible] by acclamation at the meeting of Protection No. 4. We think the nomination a good one. Mr Hallock is an old citizen of Portland, and from the beginning has been one of the most active in all matters pertaining to the Fire Department. Portland claims to have the best [illegible] and most efficient fire department of any city of equal size in the United States. Mr Hallock has contributed much to this prosperity. He is perfectly au fait in all matters pertaining to the Department, and we are glad that the "boys" so well appreciate his many good qualities, and think there is no doubt of his election.

I. O. B. B.—The first lodge of the Independent Order of B'nai Brith was organized in this city on the evening of the 4th inst., under a charter from the District Grand Lodge No. 4 of California. The order is based upon the [illegible] and like the order of Odd Fellows has for its [illegible] the furtherance of Benevolence, Brotherly Love, and Harmony.

[illegible]—The Fideliter, Erskine commander, sailed from this port to Victoria, direct, at 5 o'clock Saturday evening. She takes a good list of passengers and the following freight:—2,322 sks flour, 210 boxes fruit, 70 sks [illegible] and 7 cases mdse.

[illegible]—The Clackamas Base Ball Club, have [illegible] Charman, P T. Barclay, George [illegible] Pope, E. Bundall, C F Mason, Geo Shepard, [illegible] and Geo. Harding to play the Pioneers [illegible] the 13th.

[illegible]—The steamer Senator brought on Saturday evening 380 qr sks flour and 6 bales woolen goods. She also brought wheat to the Milwaukie mills.

FAILURE.—We learn of the failure of J H Perry & Co and that all their property within reach has been attached to satisfy the demands of their creditors.

[illegible] Wells Fargo & Co received on Saturday [illegible] from the north $15,000 in treasure.

THE PACIFIC.—The steamship Pacific left San Francisco for this port on Saturday the 6th inst. at 4 P M.

[illegible] TO ALL OBSERVERS.—For the past few [illegible] individual, dressed in the hight of the fashion, has been observed promenading the principal streets of our city, visiting the various places of amusement and attending the most fashionable places of public worship. In the heat of the day he lounges in front of the [illegible] hotel of the city and in the cool bracing air of the evening drives to the White House and other [illegible] resorts—wherever he goes or wherever he may be this mysterious personage is the observed of all observers and is most emphatically the town talk. In the dining room, at the opera, in the ball room at the evening party, at the sociable and pleasant tea parties, in the saloon and in the halls of fashion, where wit and beauty reign—[illegible], this ubiquitous individual—who he is and where he came from—is the sole topic of conversation and furnishes the gossipping world of Portland with a fruitful theme. As might be expected there are many rumors afloat as to his identity, the general impression being that he is Russian nobleman traveling incog, who has condescended to honor our city with his presence for a short time only. The native grace and polished manners combined with the lavish manner in which he scatters his golden rubles, rather tend to confirm this opinion and strengthen the belief that we really have a bona fide Russian Count in our midst. Were it possible to avoid it we would be the last to dispel the popular illusion but in this case simple justice to our old friend, "the" Smith imperatively demands that we should do something to clear away the impenetrable mystery with which he has been enveloped since purchasing a suit of fashionable custom-made clothing from Harman Bros 78 Front street. This astonishing metamorphose in his personal appearance can the more easily be accounted for when we reflect that this is probably the first time in the last ten years he has indulged in the luxury of a new suit of clothes. Thanks to Harman for this item.

Gen Dix has finally [illegible] the French Mission and will leave for [illegible] towards the close of the [illegible] month.

Important Decision by the Attorney General.

Attorney General Stanbery yesterday gave an opinion that the contract entered into by Mr Harlan, late Secretary of Interior with the Connecticut Emigration Company for [illegible] of 800,000 acres of reserve lands of the Cherokee Indians in Kansas at one dollar per acre cannot be sustained.

Financial.

NEW YORK Oct 6.—The Post's money article says the loan market is easy but shows little activity, rates remaining at 4@5 per cent for all loans and 5@7 per cent for discounts. The stock market is irregular and depressed. Government stocks firm without much inquiry. Railroad shares lower and the main object with many holders seems to be to realize. The shipments of specie to-day were $101,258 per City of Paris, $15,400 per New York and $37,000 per Saxonia. Total shipments for the week $273,000. A large amount of old five-twenties have been bought with a view of putting up prices.

DENTIST.

OFFICE—AT THE OLD STAND on Morrison Street, near the corner of Front—Western Hotel Building
RESIDENCE—Bet Washington and Alder on Sixth St.
Appreciating the most Liberal Patronage by my friends and the public generally during my residence in this city I hope and take pleasure by diligent attention and Scientific Treatment to see the same continued as heretofore.
N B.—To strangers I would say, that a constantly increasing Dental Practice for the last 4 years in this city, will be a sufficient guarantee for them to receive a First Class and Finished Piece of Work. Numerous testimonials to the same can be given at the Office.

MOTHERS.

We would distinctly say that any statement we make with regard to the curative powers of the
GRAEFENBERG UTERINE CATHOLICON
On Females, old and young, results from a long and very extensive experience, from the testimony of physicians second to none in the country, and from reports of undoubted Cures of Ladies of the very highest respectability.

HOSTETTER'S
CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.
READ AND REFLECT

Make sure of Health! But how? you ask
We answer 'tis an easy task!
Strengthen the Stomach and sustain
The Nerves, the servants of the brain,
The Liver keep in active play,
And regulate the bowels day by day
[illegible] Nature's plan
Brace and refresh the [illegible]
And like a watch that's kept in chime
By constant care with rule of time
The system [illegible] and strength renew,
And heartily cheer the spirits too.
How? you inquire—can this be done?
The Victory o'er Disease be won?
HOSTETTER'S BITTERS we reply
IS HEALTH'S SUPREME PROTECTION—TRY!

As a means of regenerating the disordered and enfeebled system regulating every function of the internal organs reviving the depressed spirits invigorating the constitution and prolonging life no medicinal preparation either of the past or the present time has been so completely and universally successful as
HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS

Against the vapors of [illegible]
That fever taint the heavy air
Drink not unmixed the water found
In prairies woods or marshy ground,
If sedentary toil you ply
Nature you must assist—or die—
For when debarred from exercise
For artificial aid she cries
Medicine's grand purpose and intent
Is threatened evil to prevent,
And if you'd be relieved or spared
From ills that crush the unprepared,
Hostetter's Bitters use—for none
They are the SUREST ANTIDOTE

To set at defiance the miasma of unhealthy soils, the poison of unwholesome water, the effluvia of crowded work rooms and factories and the baleful influence of sedentary employments it is only necessary to be fore-armed with

Dyspepsia's pangs, that rack and grind
The body and depress the mind
Agues that as they go and come,
Make life a constant martyrdom;
Colics and dysenteric pains,
'Neath which the strong man's vigor wanes;
Bilious complaints those tedious ills
Never conquered yet by drastic pills;
Dread diarrhoea that cannot be
Cured by destructive mercury,
Slow constitutional decay
That brings Death nearer day by day;
Nervous prostration mental gloom—
Heralds of madness or the tomb;
For these—though mineral nostrums fail—
Means of Relief at least we hail
HOSTETTER'S BITTERS—medicine sure,
Not to prevent alone but cure.

In dyspepsia fever and ague bilious complaints, constitutional and nervous debility, constipation sea-sickness, spasms and in all complaints of Man or Woman proceeding from casual or inherent weakness of the body, the one great remedy and restorative is
HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS

To wanderers on sea or land
From Polar shore to Tropic strand
To households long in regions new,
And dwellers in great cities too
To soldiers in camp fort and field,
Who need against disease a shield;
To miners California bound
And tillers of wet marshy ground,
To feeble wives of fragile mould
To young and middle aged and old
To those in health, who would enjoy
Heaven's best gifts without alloy
To all the strengthless, weak and pale,
Who droop, yet know not what they ail,
Hostetter's Bitters we present
As Health's most potent element

If there is any value in public opinion, or any weight in medical testimony the very best and safest Tonic Corrective and Alterative now before the world is

G. VENARD,
CHARTRES COFFEE!
Manufactory Established in June, 1851.
STEAM POWER NOS 645 AND 647 FRONT ST

HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities. CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.
The undersigned who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise which commands here and in the markets of the interior a relatively higher price excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice
BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.

FROM MONTANA

Churches are not in demand in Montana. The "Union Church, Virginia City, has been sold and turned into a stable and the ground used as a lumber yard.

The Irwins have left Virginia City and are now playing in Salt Lake City.

The following items are from the Montana Post of Sept. 16th,

MAJOR BRIDGER

This pioneer of forty four years standing, came to town a week ago with dispatches from Colonel Carrington to the Governor. He is looking tough and will probably live forty four years longer. He witnessed the farce, called by some a treaty, which was enacted at Fort Laramie a few weeks since. "The fort beggars," he says "were the only chiefs that devoured the government rations and received the presents. Some of the Indians rode into camp upon horses which were marked "U. S.," that were stolen from Ohio troops. He sees nothing but war ahead, and that, if the authorities at Washington will furnish him the means he will "clean out," all the hostile Indians in one summer. There is no harm in allowing him to try his plan, and as most regular army officers never fight the red braves, if they can avoid it, we say to the gallant Major "pitch in." Among other interesting incidents he mentioned this. At one point, where a skirmish was recently going on, a cowardly driver was in the act of leaving an ambulance to certain capture, but was prevented by a heroic woman, Mrs. Thompson, who drew a revolver and compelled him to remain at his post of duty.

HOLLAND GULCH

The news from this region is very encouraging, and many parties are starting for it day and night. Nearly 500 men are searching for its hidden riches and many have been very successful. Bill Fairweather, (of course it is needless to say that he discovered Alder gulch) was in town last Saturday and claims that it is ten miles long, and equal in richness to his discovery. The bed rock is composed of white sandstone, which resembles that of Australia. The dust is coarse, and many nuggets have been picked up, although none of them are of great value, the largest being worth $40. The diggings are shallow and it is only five or eight feet from the surface to the bed rock. The miners have not been disturbed by water. We have been told that a descendant of Ham, who owns desirable ground, has refused $5,000 for it.

AN EXODUS.

Upon Sunday, the 9th inst., the streets of Virginia City were crowded with people, and upon the following day, two hundred and fifty persons, from the grandfather with heavy locks down to the suckling in its mother's arms, under the leadership of a "Moses," Capt. Singleton, departed for the Yellowstone. America is the land of promise for which they are journeying. About twenty five boats will leave the Yellowstone canyon on the 15th inst., and about four hundred and fifty passengers will descend the Missouri.

The following items are from Helena papers.

J. H. Foster, the murderer of Mallory, at Diamond City, has been sentenced by Judge Munson to be hung on Friday, October 5th. His counsel have appealed the case to the Supreme Court.

Some of the emigrants to the States take the mackinaws within fifteen miles of Helena, and go by the portage round the Great Falls, about six miles.

Three hundred thousand bushels of wheat were raised in the Territory the present season.

Twelve quartz leads, which promise well, have been discovered near the head of Flint creek, in Deer Lodge county. They contain more silver than gold.

Blackfoot, Deer Lodge and Jefferson cities are to have mails until further notice.

The venders of the "ten-dice game" continue to live upon the pockets of Helena fools.

Four persons who have prospected through the beautiful valley of the Judith and the Mussel Shell river country, found gold, buffaloes and the "garden spot of Montana."

Captain Fisk's party, with one hundred and forty wagons and three hundred men, about thirty of whom had families, reached Benton on the 27th ult., and Sun river on the 1st inst. About three hundred other persons came by the same route overland. Eighty men, among whom was Capt. Fisk, prepared to unite on Sun River, about 90 miles from Helena, and will till the soil next year. We regret to see only four single ladies came, and that fifty were refused passage because they belonged to no families.

The report that a crew of three men who went down the river in a small mackinaw, were massacred by the Indians has been confirmed.

Gaston & Simpson cleaned up one plate, four by five feet square, in their mill at New York gulch, on Sunday, and obtained between nine hundred and a thousand dollars from it.

Three mackinaws left Benton every day in the last month, and carried on an average, fifteen passengers.

Three quartz mills are in operation in the Hot Spring district.

Emigrant gulch is called a "big thing," and some are stampeding to it.

On September 18th there was quite a snow fall at Helena, making everything look winterish.

The last Mackinaw fleet down the Missouri will leave Fort Benton on October 1st. Indications point to a heavy stampede for the East.

FROM IDAHO.

BOISE BASIN.

The editor of the Idaho Times has made a trip through the Boise Basin. On Granite and Wolf creeks, Placerville, he found miners still working, and engaged in running tunnels, of which four are of considerable length—the Geo. McKeen, Norman & Bro., Bassens & Hathaway, and Larance & Chaplain. Prospects from these tunnels vary from five to fifty cents to the pan. Property in the camp is looking up daily, in consequence of the discovery of deep diggings.

Centerville is unusually quiet. The miners are seemingly making hay while the sun shines, or in other words banging all the dust they can before the water peters. Quite a number of sluices are running on Grimes creek and on the bars in that vicinity.

The little village of Boston is located about two and a half miles below Centerville, on Grimes creek. A saloon, boarding house, store and butcher shop, comprised the business of this camp. Several claims are successfully worked in this vicinity.

Pioneer City is quite a lively place. They have good mines and a good supply of water. The numerous gardens in that vicinity give it quite an agricultural appearance. Wilson's ditch supplies a goodly number of claims on Big Muddy and Orleans Bar with water, and will continue to do so for several months. The Goldthwaite ditch, on the west side, and Channel & Co's ditch on the east side of Grimes' creek supply quite a number of miners between Pioneer and Centerville with the needful. Messrs Channel and Co. are extending the old original Elk and Deer creek ditch along the summit of the divide between Grimes and Elk creeks to a point about three miles below Centerville. This, when completed, will be the longest ditch in Boise county. One flume of one thousand nine hundred feet in length will necessarily have to be constructed. Roads running through the Basin are in excellent condition.

The following items are from the Times.

Mr. Kirkpatrick, an old mountaineer, made us a call yesterday. He has lately returned from a prospecting tour to the head waters of the Payette and Salmon rivers. He reports having found prospects of from one to two cents to the pan, and would have investigated further had not the snow driven him out of the mountains. His trip was a pleasant one, as small game and fish were obtained in abundance in and about the lakes on the upper Payette. No signs of Indians were seen in that locality.

Judge Kelly, Judge of the First Judicial District, and Judge Hough, Indian Agent for Idaho Territory, are on their way to the northern counties—the former for the purpose of holding court at Lewiston, and the latter to look after a suitable locality for a general Indian reservation, and to heal up old scores created by the former agent Caleb Lyon, of Lyonsdale.

A Chinese woman, residing at the Fan Hop wash house, on Wall, above Main street, committed suicide yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock by taking opium. She lingered until 8 o'clock last evening, when she departed for the happy land of China.

OWYHEE ITEMS

The Avalanche cautions the public to beware of a new species of manufactured gold dust. There is considerable of it in circulation, and certain parties are known to be in the business of making it extensively. The article resembles filings of pewter or zinc, and is offered for Creek dust. It has been tested by acids and found to be nearly all spurious. If merchants, and business and laboring men generally are not constantly on the watch, they will be swindled by this stuff, and ere a month the currency will be worse than at any previous time, and thousands of dollars have been circulated here at from $12 to $16 per ounce that by assay proved to be worth no more than $1 to $3 per ounce.

The following items are from the Avalanche of Sept. 29th.

The Lincoln Company have taken an extension of time to prospect the Allison ledge. They have done a large amount of systematic shafting and tunneling and still have hope of making it a paying mine.

A ton of ore from the Reuter and Johnson vein crushed in a horse arrastra gave $48 00 in gold—did not save the silver, but suppose it contained about $12 per ton. There can be no mistake in saying the Reuter and Johnson has been plainly proven to be a true vein for nearly two thousand feet, and that it will pay by mill process an average of not less than $50 per ton. It has every indication of improvement in size and richness. At the surface it was only a visible seam; at the depth of thirty feet, it is a well defined vein of two feet.

The New York & Owyhee mill has been enlarged by an addition of twelve or fourteen feet on the north side and its full length to make room for three more large settlers, a pan for cleaning amalgam and a room for chemicals and assaying. The new settlers are in operation which makes eight of them to ten pans. Two more pans are to be added, as it is found that ten are not enough for twenty stamps on most of Owyhee ores. While working Poorman ore the whole ten pans and eight settlers are used and but ten stamps.

The Vulcan, or first north extension of the Silver Cord lodge, is yielding fine looking ore. The main shaft is down forty-five feet and shows an average width of four feet. The casings are smooth and regular. A tunnel was run from the shaft and a large mass, reaching from one wall to the other became detached by its weight and slid to the bottom of the tunnel. Messrs Reinhart & Jackson intend to soon have a lot of ore crushed by mill process.

We visited the Silver Cord mine on Thursday. Everything in and around the mine shows business improvement and confidence. Are increasing the facilities for taking ore from the mine, and now are producing from twenty to thirty tons of ore each day. A great deal of work has been done there, and all assists in proving it to be a separate and clearly defined lodge of an average width of nearly four feet.

The Poorman is now supplying thirty five stamps with ore—ten at the N. Y. & O., ten at the N. Y. & O. F., ten at the Ainsworth, and five at the Webfoot Mill. This proves in the best possible manner the ore in this mine to be abundant, and its richness is too well known to need further notice now.

We are informed that a tunnel is being run on the Varney & Carico ledge from the bottom of a shaft seventy feet deep, that it is looking well—native metal being occasionally found.

Bloom & Herd's saw mill—located at the head of Jordan Creek—took fire early Thursday morning, Sept. 27th, and was burned down, also, their shingle machine was destroyed, and about six thousand feet of lumber. Aside from the suspension of business, the loss is estimated at $3 000. The engine and fixtures are not so much damaged but they can be repaired and used again. The mill will be reconstructed as soon as possible.

On the morning of Sept. 22d snow was visible on the mountains about Silver City.

Custer on Custer

[From the Chicago Tribune.]

Some time ago we published the sworn testimony of General Custer as to the total want of fitness on the part of the people of Texas to be admitted to political rights. He swore in that testimony that the people were not loyal; that to remove the military would be to expose the lives of the Union men and the freedmen to the outrages of the rebels; that the people of Texas only sought political rights that they might the more successfully carry out their own purposes, and generally he gave them credit for loyalty and political integrity of the most disreputable character, and founded, too, upon personal observation and knowledge. That was in March last. Since then General Custer has not been in Texas. When the President issued through Doolittle and others, his proclamation for a Convention to meet at Philadelphia, this same General Custer attended a gathering in Michigan and, in response to a call for a speech, said that he was a soldier and consequently always obeyed his Commander in Chief. The orders of his Commander-in-Chief were to repair to Philadelphia and upon honor, declare that the people of Texas were loyal citizens, loving the Union for the Union's sake and intending to be so intensely faithful hereafter that they were infinitely more loyal than were the constituents of the present Congress. This command of the Commander-in-Chief required, of course, that General Custer should go to Philadelphia and upon honor declare that the statements he had made on oath in March last were not true in fact, but were merely that kind of fabulous history upon which Congress deceived itself and sought to deceive the people. True to his exposition of his duty, General Custer obeyed orders. He went to Philadelphia, he resolved and declared that the people of Texas were good and loyal people, as good and loyal that they had never lost their right to have Senators and Representatives in Congress, and that it ought not to be expected that a people so loyal could remain long in enduring the oppressive exclusion from Congress, to which by every sacred obligation they were entitled. He hurrahed, he threw up his hat, he called for "Dixie" and for a great variety of music, and generally made himself as jubilant over the resolves of the Convention as though they did not contradict the language and spirit of his former statements made on oath. General Custer, not content with this exhibition of himself, went down to Washington, and, with the aid of some other equally subservient subordinates, who always obey the man in office, drew up a call for a Convention of other military men, those who testified as he did, and others, to meet at Cleveland, and then and there declare that, as between rebels and the Northern people, the rebels were entitled to the preference in representation in Congress.

The General, however, has got into hot water. On his travels he has probably encountered some old comrades who have suggested that the republication of his sworn testimony had placed him in a most ridiculous light, and smarting under their criticism, he has rushed into print. He endeavors to explain. He says he told the truth then; but that since he swore that the rebels were more disloyal than ever, they have been converted, and as proof that they have been converted, he cites the President's proclamation of their having elected an officer of the rebel army as Governor, excluded every Union man from office, and constituted a Government of men whose only merit in public estimation was their fidelity to the Confederacy. Things have been changed, he says, in Texas, since he left there, and the change, we opine, has not been confined to Texas. When he upon oath in March last gave his opinion upon the character of the people of Texas, he honestly believed what he was saying, and undoubtedly told the real state of the case. Since then he has lived in Michigan unhonored by Executive notice. The people of Michigan have gone on canvassing the merits of persons, with a view to the selection of Congressmen, Senators, Governor and other State officers, but Custer was never mentioned. Not even the weak and staggering Democratic party ever dreamed of nominating Custer. This was too much for a man who so thoroughly knew his own transcendent merits. To be overlooked by everybody was a cruelty which he felt he did not deserve. At this juncture his horse died, and he felt certain that as the hundreds who visited his stables to see that animal would visit him no more, his oblivion was to be even more profound than ever. Just here the Copperjohnson tribe was organized, the rush from obscurity was tremendous. Old veterans who have been in every party, and been discarded by all, hastened to be enrolled; men of genius who had been cruelly overlooked by all parties declared their sympathy for the rebels who, like themselves, had been left out in the cold, and sent on their names to Washington City. This was Custer's chance, and Custer was equal to the occasion, and Custer, who was not even mentioned in a Democratic or any other County Convention, for the office of Sheriff or Coroner became a delegate to a Convention in which there was ever so much brains. Having there set Dixie to the music of Yankee Doodle, the General was authorized to call another Convention, in which Yankee Doodle will probably be set to the music of Dixie, and, who can tell, perhaps Custer whose statements on oath do not retain their virtue five months, may be nominated for President. How terribly the radicals will feel themselves refuted thereby. Go it, Custer. Don't swear, Custer; but, if you do swear, swear as you are ordered by your Commander in Chief.

AN INDIGNANT YOUNG LADY.—A young American lady, Miss F——, of one of our suburban cities, was riding in the Bois de Boulogne, Paris, with the daughter of one of our officials, when a gentleman drove past in plain equipage and recognizing the coat of arms on the carriage, supposing she was one of the family, bowed very graciously. The young lady, not recognizing the person, stared at him and in much confusion and indignation turned to her companion and said: "Did you see that impudent man bow to me?" "Oh yes—that was the emperor."

making less than two-fifths of the real amount said Mayer was to pay. He had secured the building at very advantageous rates, and even were I now to comply with his con-

the best bargain in the city. I make this statement to show the public what kind of a man he must be to Medical.

"CONSTITUTION WATER,"

THE ONLY REMEDY FOR DISEASES OF THE BLADDER, KIDNEYS,
Gravel, Dropsical Swellings,
GENITAL DEBILITY, ETC.

THE ASTONISHING SUCCESS WHICH HAS AT[illegible] this invaluable medicine [illegible] valuable one ever discovered. No language can convey an adequate idea of the immediate and almost miraculous change which it occasions in the debilitated and shattered system. In fact it stands unrivalled as a remedy for the permanent cure of the maladies above-mentioned, and for—

DIABETES, IMPOTENCY,
LOSS OF MUSCULAR ENERGY,
PHYSICAL PROSTRATION,
INDIGESTION,
SEMINAL WEAKNESS,
GLEET, FLUOR ALBUS,

And in every disease any way connected with the debility or decay of the PROCREATIVE FUNCTIONS. Persons about to marry, if conscious of any weakness, should take the

CONSTITUTION WATER.

Whether broken down by excess, weak by nature, or impaired by sickness, the unstrung and relaxed organization is at once retraced, revivified and built up. Well may this celebrated medicine be called the

MEDICAL WONDER.

The stooping, trembling victim of depression and debility becomes a new man, he stands erect, he moves with a firm step, his mind, which was previously sunk in gloom or an almost idiotic apathy, becomes bright and active, and he goes forth regenerated, conscious of new vigor. The medicine reaches the CONSTITUTION itself, and restores it to its normal condition.

IRRITATION OF THE NECK OF THE BLADDER, INFLAMMATION OF THE KIDNEYS AND
CATARRH OF THE BLADDER,
STRANGUARY AND BURNING OR PAINFUL
URINATING,
CALCULUS, GRAVEL,
BRICK DUST DEPOSIT AND MUCOUS
OR MILKY DISCHARGES AFTER URINATING.

For these diseases it is truly a [illegible] remedy, and too much cannot be said in its praise. A single dose has been known to relieve the most urgent symptoms. [illegible] IT in these cases, and you will ever give praise to

CONSTITUTION WATER.

Males or Females.
